five years, Mrs. Mary (Faris) Lang, and from her he learns that James Simpson settled at the mouth of Elk Creek, where Clarksburg now stands, about 1764, and that he was the first white man to locate in that part of Virginia; that John Goodwin did not enlist from Harrison county in 1778, but first came to Harrison county about 1794; that the Webbs had located on Simpson's Creek above Bridgeport in 1790, and John Goodwin married Elizabeth Webb. John Goodwin had a younger brother, Edward, who also located in Harrison county, and no other brothers or sisters are known. The parents of these two sons were Edward and Tabitha ( ) Goodwin, who had removed from Montgomery county, Md., to below Winchester, Frederick county, Va. (In this connection note that John Goodwin, son of Thomas, Appendix G, born in 1773, was living in Frederick county, Va., and that a John Goodwin mentioned in Appendix W, page 127, born about 1735, was living in Frederick county, Va.) After the marriage of John Goodwin and Elizabeth Webb, Edward Goodwin, who was born in Maryland in 1734, and Tabitha his wife, walked from Winchester, Va., to Clarksburg and were given a home by their son John. This was about 1798. Mrs. Mary (Faris) Lang further says on her sixth birthday, in 1820, she was taken to see her great-grandfather "Neddie" and her great-grandmother Tabitha Goodwin, then living with her grandfather John Goodwin, who was born Sept. 28, 1762, and died Nov. 20, 1842. Mrs. Lang knows nothing of William Goodwin Davis.

This information of course precludes the possibility of Gabriel being the father of John and Edward, but, if the families are related at all, would suggest that it will have to appear that the first Edward was twice married, and had the Edward of 1734 by his first wife, and then, marrying June 30, 1735, had Gabriel and Margaret in 1737. Further investigation along these lines should furnish a clear record.

APPENDIX H.

THE GOODWINS OF BOTETOURT AND TAZEWELL COUNTIES, VA.

The supposition that this family descends through Robert, eldest son of Major James Goodwin, will have to be abandoned, as Dr. Tyler's notes show conclusively that this Robert died unmarried, and that the second Robert was too young to have been the father of John, who married Mary Elliot in 1705. It is possible that Mathew, instead of Robert, was the father of this John. The lack of data prohibits even a guess at the relationship of this branch to Major James Goodwin.
